September/October 2019

Well, THATS A WRAP, just like that the Indiana show season has ended as well as my tenure as your president. I would like to thank everyone one from the bottom of my heart that has supported Indiana pinto this year as well as myself! We saw some improvements, fantastic performances, great competition, and of course more friendships and comraderies. I truly enjoyed being your president the last two years and am excited for the potential of the club as Jill Duzan takes the reins/lines for the next two years! She is a fantastic choice, and the potential is endless!!! Congrats to all of the new board members and thank you to all that have served.

This club does not “just happen” we truly do have some of the best people around running things in the background. Our show staff, volunteers, board members, trail coordinators, they are second to none! I want to give all of them a huge THANK YOU for all that they do, it is appreciated more than you will ever know!! We have a board meeting coming up on Nov 17th to which we will change over our board and leadership, at that time we will let you know what the plans are for our end of the year banquet. At this time we are planning on a March date and we hope that everyone can join us!!

I would like to congratulate Samantha Lewis with VR Timeless Gem on winning our Hoosier Shootout! We also would like to thank all of our sponsors that make it possible!!! Our trail ride and poker run where a success, make sure you check the website and facebook for more information and results of all of the Indiana programs. We also would like to wish the best of luck to everyone traveling to the Color Horse Congress, I know you will make us all proud and many will be cheering you on from home! I am hoping to see everyone at the Banquet!!
Happy Fall,

Krissy Freitag

Eastern Equine Encephalitis

Description

Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE) virus tends to occur in outbreak form. First identified in mosquitoes in Louisiana in 1951, the disease is transmitted to horses by mosquitoes that have fed on infected wild birds.

The normal geographical distribution of EEE cases in horses occurs east of the Mississippi River, typically including the coastal states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, New Jersey, North Carolina and South Carolina, although cases have occurred in the midwestern states of Indiana, Michigan and Ohio. At least one case of EEE has occurred in a horse in California, but the origin of the case was not established.

EEE virus attacks the central nervous system and unvaccinated horses are very susceptible to the infection. The disease appears within five days after a mosquito transmits the virus to the horse. Onset of clinical symptoms are abrupt and infected horses often die within three days.

The fatality rate is 90% or higher and an animal that survives the disease may have brain damage.

Other diseases and poisoning may have similar symptoms. It is important that a speedy diagnosis is made. A veterinarian can take blood samples to send to a diagnostic laboratory.

Symptoms

- Fever
- Sleepy appearance
- Muscle twitches in head, neck, shoulder and flanks
- Staggering gait
- Recumbency

Causes

EEE occurs in a wide variety of songbirds, including the blue jay, chickadee, cardinal, tufted titmouse and catbird. Mosquitoes that inhabit marshes and wooded wetlands, named Culiseta melanura, transmit the virus from bird to bird and also to horses and people.

Horses get Eastern Equine Encephalitis when they are bitten by a mosquito carrying the EEE virus.

During years of outbreaks, mosquito species other than Culiseta melanura become involved in the transmission cycle. EEE cases in horses usually begin to appear in mid-to late-summer and increase in the fall.

Transmission of EEE from birds to horses usually occurs when the mosquito population is high. Horses are usually the first animals to become infected because they are normally housed in rural areas and have a greater exposure to mosquitoes.

The potential for an outbreak of EEE appears to correspond to the number of unvaccinated horses. It is unusual to see the disease in a horse that has received the initial vaccination series and the proper boosters.

Prevention

Annual vaccination of all horses and other equines is recommended. Horses vaccinated for the first time must receive an injection of EEE-WEE combined vaccine, followed by a second dose three to four weeks later.

The two-dose series is necessary to establish an effective immune response. If an outbreak occurs in the area, a second booster is advised.

Foals should be vaccinated at 4, 5, and 6 months of age for a total of three doses. Another booster should be given in six months and annually from then on.

In addition to making sure that all equines are vaccinated, horses should be taken in at times when the mosquito population is highest. This usually includes the hours around dawn and dusk. In some cases, horses can be blanketed or covered with protective gear to prevent bites. Insect repellent can be used on horses to prevent bites from mosquitoes.

In all cases, the population of mosquitoes should be controlled as much as possible by following the recommendations of mosquito-control personnel and the agencies in the area where horses are kept.

Any bodies of stagnant water should be drained and water-holding containers such as buckets, tires and other receptacles where water might accumulate should be emptied. Horse troughs and waterers should be flushed often to reduce mosquitoes near paddock areas.

Insecticides for treating mosquito nesting areas around homes and livestock premises should be used on a regular basis.

Treatment

There is no specific treatment for EEE. Antibiotics are not effective against viruses, and no effective anti-viral drugs have been developed.
